Compared with the corresponding period in 1865. the are less than these of 1866 by $5,981,844. In November

1865. £100,506,818 | 1860. £103,699,380 | 1867. £181,879,314

From the above figures it appears that the imports for

In October the imports were:

The following is the conclusion of an able pamphlet, defending the financial condition of the State of

Prior to the war every road in Tennessee, excepting the Edgeneid and Kentucky, and perhaps the Winehester and Alakama roads, paid the interest on the bende loaned them. The ord of almost all the roads in Tennessee, are treated now than before the war. The important question for the bondholder now is: What security have I for the payment of the principal and interest of my bond! The State debt proper is only about 14,000,000. The roads and and their rolling stock are more. The range of the payment of the principal and interest of my bond! The State for the bendholders must know, hourse to their benefit. For the payment of $29,000,000 of bonds, which will be the entire annount of bonds issued to the roads, including those that may be bened under the recent act of the Legislature, the bondholders have as security roads which, when culpure out and which will be the work of the Legislature, the bondholders have as security roads which, when culpure out and which will be worth fully $1,000,000. In addition to that they have the whole resources of the State solemnly pledged to thom. And what are the taxable resources of the State for taxes $1,100,000. An all the real and personal catate of the Lax Special of the law war and the extention of the above amount must exertainly be paid. The present tax law, under which the taxes of 1858 will be levied, increases the tax fully 50 per coat. The receipts from all sources the past year, exclusive of interest paid by railroads, were 41,51,472. Add 50 per cent to this will make $2,270,908. To this should be received to the state of the state of the state of the expenditures of the State last year, exclusive of interest paid by railroads, were 41,51,472. Add 50 per cent to the will make $2,270,908. To this should be part of the state of the common schools, a system which she is just inaugurating. When her railroads are almost rebuilt, and daily increasing their capacity to pay their dues to the State, and when her future receipts from taxation will annually exceed her ordinary expenses largely over $1,000,000! Surely a knewledge of the condition and resources of Tennessee, the known spirit and character of her people, the well-known unalterable determination of her legislators and all her State officials to maintain her public faith involate, ought to satisfy every one that the interest on her public debt will ever be promptly paid, and that all her obligations will be honorably and faithfully fulfilled. The trade in woolens shows a slight improvement, but cannot be reported satisfactory. The clothing houses, who are the chief buyers at this season, have been so badly crippled by the losses of late seasons, that they are operating very moderately. There is rather more demand for clotha and doeskins and prices are somewhat steadler. Fancy cassimeres of Spring styles are bought in moderate lots by the clothing trade, but the cloth jobbers are doing little in them. Satinets are doil and weak Kentucky jeans sell slowly. The reduction in the price of carpets has rather stimulated the demand, but the Spring trade has not yet set in Lowell Company's ingrain are now quoted at $1 to for superfine, $1 so for extra superfine, and $1 so for three-ply. PROTECTION AGAINST DENTAL QUACKERY.

At a recent State Convention of Dentists, At a recent state contraction of some law to regulate the practice of dental surgery, and to protect the public against the evils of dental quackery. It is acknowledged that dental surgery is of the utmost importance to the community at large, yet at the same time it is left without the least legal mark of distinction, and without even recognition by the enactment of a single law. Unscrupulous chariatans are on a level with gle law. Unscrupulous chariatans are on a level with the skillful operator. The consequence is that the public are often imposed upon, and by the malpractice of the pretenders the masters in the art of dentistry are looked upon with suspicion. It is suggested that a minimum time should be prescribed by law, to which a would-be follower of dentistry should devote himself to the study of the science. In fact, that no dentist should be allowed to practice unless he could show a diploma (similar to those now pertaining to the medical profession) of his skill, and the necessary qualifications for the practice of the art. To make a good dentist a fair knowledge of medicine and surgery is required, and it is proposed that such a course of probation should be required by law. I showing the importance of such a law it is estimated that over $0,00,000 is expended in this State alone for dental operations. Before the Convention adjourned it was resolved that a petition should be drawn up, asking the Legislature to pass such a law.
